

Course Number

Classics 395

Course Title

Methodology Research Seminar: Classics in the Digital Age

Quarter/Year

Winter 2021

Day/Time

TTh 2-3:20 pm

Instructor

Terpstra

Degree/Distro Fulfillment

Major Requirement

Required Textbooks

None required.

Assessments

Midterm paper, in-class presentation, final paper.

Course Description:

The course will provide students with fundamental research skills through hands-on learning, and in-class work on an individual project. Students will learn how to use reference tools and online databases, allowing them to search, analyze and interpret ancient evidence, ranging from literary texts to inscriptions, papyri and visual material. The course is designed to reflect current developments in the field of Classics. It therefore emphasizes digital approaches, including electronic tools for the study of ancient evidence as well as digital projects that employ advanced computational methods. The seminar is intended for juniors with reading knowledge of Latin and Greek. Sophomores and seniors may participate with departmental permission.