

Course Number

Greek 201

Course Title

Introduction to Greek Literature: Iliad

Quarter/Year

Spring 2022

Day/Time

MWF 11-11:50

Instructor

Anna Darden

Distro Fulfillment

Language and Verbal Arts

Course Description

This course, the final of the second-year Greek series, is designed to build fluency in reading Greek as students transition from the study of Greek grammar to Greek literature. This course will look closely at selections of the Iliad, but our goal will be to develop enough proficiency that students will be capable of reading Homeric epic on their own. The aim of this course is for students to reach the level of understanding of Greek and familiarize themselves with resources so that they can, in the future, read Greek literature independently.

Priam ransoming Hector's Body by Giovanni Maria Benzoni

Required Textbooks

Brenner, Allen Rogers. Selections from Homer's Iliad. University of Oklahoma Press.

Assessments

Attendance, Class Participation, Exams, Final, Exams, Mid-Term